Voices: Achievement

"He said he was sad to go. It was a good experience. And he did learn a lot about being independent and going to college. And that there were interesting people there. People like him...Friends."

-Family Advocate on Project College

Voices: Advocacy

"No more budget cuts and keep your promise."

Regina Woodliff
Self-Advocate

Voices: Collaboration

"I think I can speak for many of the individuals that participated from our Exceptional Family group, that they left feeling empowered, with the knowledge of where to go to get help and services regarding Assistive Technology, and the like.

Thank you again, and I look forward to our future collaborations."

- Ava-Dyann Clark, Assistant Director, Next Step Vocational Education & Transition Center

Next Step™
Vocational Education & Transition Center

Voices: Community

"Events like this are important and serve our communities. SCDD plays an important role in this type of outreach and collaborating with community agencies and with the Self Advocacy Council 6 helps to make sure we are reaching self-advocates and families!"

- George Lewis, CPSII

Voices: Empowerment

"I have a new found hope after attending a SCDD Council meeting. Seeing and meeting all the committed Council members renewed my faith that the future is not only bright for Bradley but for all those whose voices aren't heard."

Stephen Bell,
Family Advocate

Voices: Freedom

"...There are so many fantastic memories that I'll forever cherish; watching Miranda cruise around on very own cruiser bike. Makenzie's boundless energy and strong pedal power. The special bond between Sam and Holly. The huge smile Jose had as he was speeding along on his two-wheeler and his caring & concern for other campers. Then watching Ayden slow but steady progress as well as him conquering wearing a bike helmet....

The opportunity to work with these incredible bike campers and their families is truly the most rewarding and fulfilling gift of all..."

Penny N.

Voices: Hope

"Thank you so much for taking the time to help me understand the placement process for my daughter G.

I have already started using your suggested strategies and have found several good options. The process is still a bit confusing but I can see 'light at the end of the tunnel'"

Family Advocate

Voices: Inclusion

"It was great and a pleasure to have Ms. Carmela and Ms. Tamica at our Heroes in the Park event, given us the opportunity to meet them. Words cannot express how much we appreciate the involvement of SCDD, to see the the smiles in our families faces and to see how much more we can do and grow the lives of our kids, the lives of our families in the Coachella Valley together."

Gaby Reyes,
UCP Inland Empire

Voices: Independence

"Keys in hand for apt #221. We have been moving in this weekend. You continue to be our hero !!! I wasn't sure it would ever happen. Thank you SO much!! We couldn't do it without YOU!"

Self-Advocate

Voices: Safety

"The videos were great and the examples were helpful. I learned how to be ready for an emergency. I'm going to put my kit together!"
