Behavioral Services	Behavioral therapy such as ABA, Floor-time, etc.	What are some options to help my child with autism with social skills, behavior, and communication?	Therapies such as Applied Behavior Analysis which involves gradually changing behaviors through positive reinforcement or discouraging problem behaviors. Another popular therapy is Floor-time that involves playing with your child, increasing opportunities for communication, and reinforcing his/her social and emotional growth. Staff, family and friends can all be involved in these activities.	You notice your child prefers to be alone, does not like to make eye contact with other people, or repeats the same actions over and over (rocking, shaking hands, playing with the same toy). Or you may have a child who has frequent tantrums, hurts themselves or others, or is difficult to take out in public.	077	X	X

A business that provides public transportation, dial-a-ride, taxi, or rental car services.	You have an evening committee meeting at your church. You do not feel safe taking the bus at night. The regional center may pay for a taxi ride, if the committee participation is in your IPP.	895	X	X	X
Transportation	To and from Day programs or Vendored services	Will I be able to get a transportation company to take me to and from my day program?	A business that provides transportation for consumers to and from their community-based day program or to other vendored services of the regional center.	You will be starting a day program that teaches acting, singing and dancing. It will be Monday to Friday from 9 AM to 2:PM. The regional center may pay for a van to pick you and other program participants up at your homes and take you	875			X

Transportation	Transportation Assistant	Is there someone besides the driver who can watch and help my son on the van to and from his day program?	A business that assists and monitors self- advocates while they are being transported.	Your adult son has challenging behaviors which need extra supervision when being transported in the van to the day program. He likes to stand up, he sometimes kicks the seat in front of him, and he has been known to disrobe. The van driver cannot safely drive the vehicle without an assistant for him.	882			X

Transportation	Transportation Broker	Is there an outside agency that can coordinate the pick-up and drop-off schedules and routes for a large day program that provides its own transportation?	A business that coordinates and develops better routes and time schedules for transporters that pick up multiple self-advocates.	Your daughter attends a large day program that provides transportation to and from the program in its fleet of vans. The program does not have the technology or staff with expertise in efficient routing and scheduling of shared rides for its two hundred participants. Therefore, the program uses a broker vendored by the regional center who specializes in this type of work.	883	X	X	X

Transportation	Transportation-additional component	Will I be able to get transportation to each of the different work sites that are part of my day program?	A community-based day program vendor, who conducts its program entirely in natural environments, for whom it is more cost effective to include the cost of transporting consumers, which occurs between the first and last training site (rather than providing a separately contracted transportation service).	You go to a day program where you travel to different locations to do various jobs, such as a senior home, a park, and a pet store. A van is provided to take you to the different work locations.	880			X
Transportation	Transportation-Auto Driver	Can my neighbor get paid to drive me to places in the community?	A person identified in a self-advocate's IPP to drive the person places he/she needs to go. Must have a valid California drivers' license and have auto insurance.	You have a neighbor who is willing to drive you to errands, appointments and social activities. He has asked if there is a way to help pay for some of the costs.	890	X	X	X

Transportation	Transportation-Family Member	Can I drive my son to places he needs to go, and get paid for it?	A family member or adult self-advocate can provide transportation service or arrange for an individual to provide the transportation service. The family must show financial need and justify that this service will enable the self-advocate to remain living in the family home. For families of minors, the costs cannot exceed the amount that the family would pay for a minor child without disabilities.	You own a lift-equipped van for your son who uses a wheelchair. You are willing to drive him to and from his day program on a daily basis. You would need to get paid to cover gas and related transportation costs. This arrangement is in your son's IPP and the regional center has agreed to fund it.	425	X	X	X

Transportation	Travel Reimbursement	Can the regional center pay for me to travel to the city where my child lives, so that I can visit or participate in his/her IPP meeting?	Repayment for travel necessary for an IPP. This could include tickets (airplane, train) and lodging.	Your son's IPP meeting takes place every April. He lives in Los Angeles because he likes his job there, and you live in Florida on a very limited income. He has depression and mild intellectual disabilities and he really wants you to be at his IPP. The regional center may reimburse your travel expenses to attend the IPP, especially if the IPP identifies that parental visit could help ease his depression.	105	X	X	X

Transportation	Vehicle Modification/ Adaptation	Where can I get a van modified for my physical disabilities?	Vehicle modification and adaptation such as devices, controls or services which allow the consumer to live in their home and access the community .May include adaptations such as door handles, door widening, lifting devices, wheelchair securing devices, adapted seat devices, adapted steering, acceleration, signaling and braking devices; handrails and grab bars. Includes installation, repair and maintenance. Vehicle must be owned by the consumer or the consumer's family.	Your uncle is giving you a hand-me down van. Since you use a wheelchair and do not have use of your feet, you will need it equipped with a lift and with adapted steering and braking devices. If there is no other agency or way to pay for it, the regional may consider funding this, if it is in your IPP.	021		X	X
