Discussion: Mental Health Awareness, Available Supports and the Council's Work

Since 1949, the month of May has been recognized as Mental Health Awareness month to highlight how important mental health is to a person's overall well being. The Council has collected data, received individual stories from people, and documented the trend of an increase awareness of mental health challenges, including feelings of isolation, and lack of access to services and supports, for people with intellectual and developmental disabilities (I/DD) during the current 5-year State Plan.

This agenda Item will include an overview of some of the Council's efforts to address the mental health needs of Californians with I/DD.

Following an overview of Council's efforts, members will have a chance to participate in a conversation about access to mental health supports and services. Members are encouraged to share ideas about opportunities to strengthen support for people with I/DD in California during this agenda item.
