

JUNE NEWS

The State Council on Developmental Disabilities (SCDD) is established by state and federal law as an independent state agency to insure that people with developmental disabilities and their families receive the services and supports they need.

The California Department of Rehabilitation (DOR) announced it will be renaming as Disability Works California, followed by a comprehensive rebrand and outreach campaign that will enhance its reach to all people with disabilities, as well as employers, educators, and families. The new name and branding will be designed to resonate with the diverse spectrum of disability, culture, perspectives, and lived experiences within the disability community, as well as with employers across different sectors and educators assisting students with career planning. Summer days are here! Summer will begin with the solstice on June 20, 2024.

Master Plan for Developmental Services-

Happening Now!

CalHHS will soon launch a public engagement campaign to engage individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities, families, and system partners in the communities across the state to better understand their hopes and dreams for a 21st century developmental services system.

If you would like to host a roundtable discussion in your community or have recommendations of places or communities for us to highlight, please email
