Training Objectives:

- Options available to educating your child with disabilities - public, private, charter, homeschool, home/hospital.
- Recognize your child's educational rights under IDEA, Section 504, and the ADA, and how these laws apply across different types of schools.
- Identify key features of effective special education programs and what quality instruction and inclusion should look like.
- Learn how to use your child's IEP or 504 Plan to guide the school/program selection process.
- Explore how to collaborate effectively with school teams, service providers, and administrators when considering educational placements.
- Understand how to access and evaluate related services and who is responsible for funding depending on what setting (speech therapy, occupational therapy, counseling, etc.) across different educational settings.
- Learn how to monitor progress and determine if a school or program remains an appropriate fit over time.
